Online Safety Messages

Mr Fozzard and the Digital Leaders wanted to share some important information about online safety before we finish for the summer break.

The National Online Safety website has a wide range of information for parents including the safe use of apps children have access to and how to check parental controls.

They have a FREE Online Safety app which has a plethora of resources to help keep children safe online. You can find further information about the app and how to download it by clicking this link.

Hundreds of online safety guides

Instant access to all of our award-winning guides, absolutely free, providing advice and guidance on the latests apps, games, platforms and devices.

Free parents course

Made up of four mini-courses, our online safety course for parents & carers focuses on how children from age 4 to 18 will use, engage with, and potentially be at risk by their online activity.

Everything you need to know in one place

Favourite your chosen guides and training to make your interface bespoke to you.

Their online safety guides can all be found on the app. They are also available to view on their website by clicking on the following link. Each one delves into certain apps and websites and tells you everything you need to know in order to stay safe when using them.
